FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Mr. Lee Owen laid in a large stock of goods the past week.

Mr. Geo. Montgomery has quit Mr. Shaw and returned home.

Miss Kate Shipp will open the dis-trict school Monday next.

Miss Virgina McF. Morris is visiting Miss Lizzie Scott at Locust Hill.

The copious rains have done a great deal of good to corn and tobacco.

Mr. Walter Raymond visited the mountains of Kentucky last week.

We understand Mr. Moses Hayden will make the race for Jailer of this county.

Wheat all threshed in this neighborhood, making on an average of about 17 bushels per acre.

Miss Sallie Darnall, a charming young lady of Rantoul. Illinois, is vis-iting Miss Lizzie Jett.

Messrs, W. Crutcher, M. P. Craig and Ote Crutcher attended the barbecue at Lexington on the 29th.

Misses Lizzie Hulett and Eva Estes, of Clintonville, Burbon county, are visiting Miss Maggie and Mrs. Owen this week.

Still Smiley is preparing his yearling filly for the Lawrenceburg Fair. Look out boys, he will take the blue string, for he has a perfect model.

Some of the boys had quite a lively time Sunday evening on the pike, about 3 miles from town. Bill Hager shot six shots at Birch Woods.

Henry and Len Moore made a flying visit to Clifton Sunday. Misses Sophie Stinnette and Mary Enlowe returned with them, and the boys looked as happy as big sun flowers.

Good seasonable rains this week.

Mrs. Joe Roberts is again confined to her bed.

Mr. Ed. Peyton, of Pleasureville, was visiting relatives in this neighborhood this week.

Powell Moore has sold his tobacco crop to Joe Conway and gone into the cord wood business.

We take pleasure in stating that Mr. Jasper Dalton, who has been very sick, is able to go about again

We met Clipper the other day on his way home from fishing. He looked a sadder if not a wiser man—no fish.

There were so many visiting Saturday and Sunday that we cannot give all their names, and for fear of slighting some will mention none. Let all teachers remember that next Saturday week is the regular meeting of the Franklin County Teachers' Association, and it promises to be an interesting one.

Notwithstanding the rain there was quite a large crowd at the picnic last Saturday and everything went off nicely, but we would like to ask a question or two right here. Are such question or two right here. Are such gatherings, properly speaking, picnics? Are they fit places for your wives and daughters to visit? Why cannot young men go to such places without getting drunk? If the parents would frown down such gatherings until something was done to stop the bringing whisky on the ground it might, it would have a good effect. There is nothing more demoralizing than these so-called picnics.

Isn't it amusing to see how that Benson depot fellow begs the question with Scorcher. I have been walting with bated breath to see his answer to Scorcher's interogatories but nary an answer. Everybody knows that the pike from Military Institute was never intended to go to Benson depot. Behold how he prates about nom de plumes. We know Daniel's style too

IN MEMORIAM.

Little Coleman, infant son of Sam O. and Fannie Crockett, died at the resi-dence of his parents in Bridgeport, Franklin county, Ky., of cholera in-fantum July 30th, 1884

To the regret of his many friend S, being the third in our village during P. Moore has gone to Louisville to the past two or three months, besides as many grown persons in the same time. Thus how forcibly are we reminded of the fact that death is abroad in the land, no respector of persons; admonishing all to be ready for his appearance. The little infant voice is hushed in the sleep that knows no awakening. The prattle of the sweet babe has forever ceased-the little cradle is emptythe house made desolate—sorrow and woe is depicted on the countenance weeping and wailing is heard-but we chide not for our Savior wept at the tomb of Lazarus.

But thanks be to our blessed Lord there is a brighter side to the picture— Little Coleman has only been trans-planted from this sinful world to an inheritance in the "Glory Land." We Mr. Henry say to the grief stricken parents, look beyond this vale of tears and behold your little lamb.

Safe in the arms of Jesus, Safe on the Evergreen shore,

Where you to will soon be permitted to join the everlasting throng in anthems of praise forever and ever.

If all our hopes and all our fears, Were prisoned in life's narrow bound; If travelers through this vale of tears We saw no better World beyond;
Oh! what could check the rising sigh?
What earthly thing could pleasure give?
Oh! who would venture then, to die—

Or who would venture then, to live. C H. P.

Summer "chickens are ripe."

In the language of Solomon Dickerson, the patches around here are suffering mighty bad for rain.

Neighbor Johnson's melon patch looks well—we boys have located all the melon patches around here. If us boys can be kept out, he will make money on them this season.

Gran Dickerson is trying to make a match between his Father-in-law and a certain very comely widow. Now won't it be nice if Edward should take well to be deceived. J. D. M. is nothing but a norn de plume and used to advance the interests of some bloated bond holder who desires to make the depot a great metropolis. It will be a grand sight to see a line of emuibusses running from Bridgeport to Benson depot. Will J. D. M. explain why he voted against the Ice House and Water Tank pike? Of course he was against the pike up through this neighborhood. Mr. A. B. Read, sr., has been quite We don't deserve any-not even a bridge across Cedar Run Poor people are only fit to vote and pay taxes. If J. D. Do the Christian people of Frankfort realize the extent to which the laws of both God and man are being violated and disregarded every Sunday right in their midst. Do they know that late residence near this place July 28, saloons are openly run all day long, gambling houses are in full blast base ball is played by white and black, to have a cow break one of her legs last on week days and that in a dozen other ways the Sunday statue laws, all the laws of decency, social and religious are openly, notoriously and shamelessly violated! If they do and fail to promptly make an earnest effort to stop it, they have no business with their names enrolled on church books. Their church, family and social duty requires this of them. Who will take the lead? "If Baal be God serve him— but if God be God serve him."

Mr. Thos. Farmer, who was taken Occasionally when we have no meet-suddenly ill the first of this week, still ing up this way I stroll into the City to hear Bro. Darsie.
